

Amendments to the Abstract:

Please replace the Abstract with the following replacement Abstract:

An electronic compass featuring an electronic circuit that provides a controlled flow of electrical current to a coil. Additionally, the circuit monitors the coil to determine when the coil becomes magnetically saturated. The duration of the magnetic saturation is monitored to determine the presence and direction of an external magnetic field.